Description and how to apply

5 Pump Court is a progressive, diverse multidisciplinary set with specialist practice teams in civil, criminal and family law. Due to a surplus of work in all areas, we are looking for probationary tenants with a view to them moving seamlessly into junior tenancy. We invite applications from barristers who want to develop a specialist civil or criminal practice, or a mixed practice (any combination of our practice areas). We have a surplus of work in all areas but particularly in civil and crime and are actively looking to increase our membership in order to service this.

We treat probationary tenants as junior tenants from the outset, and anticipate that you will move seamlessly into full tenancy after 6 months. Successful applicants can expect to hit the ground running, with lots of advocacy opportunities, a wide variety of work and the chance to get involved in Chambers life! We have a very supportive junior Bar, and our staff team will also help you to settle in and support you with individualised marketing coaching, help with profile raising and regular practice review meetings.

We believe in a healthy work life balance and understand that our members work best when they have time to spend with friends and family outside work, and to pursue their own interests. We also provide frequent opportunities to take part in chambers-wide events including social meets; outreach work; charity initiatives; and marketing events. Our staff members all operate an open door policy where members are encouraged to be in contact to discuss any issues which arise.

In order to apply, please provide:

- CV;
- Covering letter, including details of why you want to come to 5 Pump Court and an outline of how you see your career progressing;
- Details of your diary and payments received during Second 6.

We will organise an interview promptly and aim to make decisions quickly in order to give as much certainty as possible. We have a very good record of recruiting and retaining probationary tenants into specialist and mixed practices.

If you would like an informal discussion before applying, please do not hesitate to contact our Chambers Director Clare Kelly on 020 7632 7859 or clarekelly@5pumpcourt.com
