

James Bogle

Self-employed junior over 7 years in practice

About Me, My Practice and Professional Activities

I practice in banking, financial services, commercial law, trusts and property, regulatory law, the Court of Protection, public law and health law from chambers in the Inner Temple. I am also a member of the Hall committee at Middle Temple and am a tutor on the Middle Temple Advocacy scheme.

What I Can Offer the Bar Council

I have decades of experience at the Bar and believe I can make a useful contribution to the Bar Council.

Motivation for Standing

My motivation is that I am concerned about access to justice for members of the public (no legal aid, increased court fees, closure of court offices, delays, lack of available judges and courts etc) and what the Bar can do about that. I am also concerned about over-regulation, or inefficient regulation, of the profession which threatens to undermine, not improve, standards.